Energy Saving Tip #10

In the winter time set your office thermostat somewhere between 65 and 68 degrees during office hours and 60 to 65 at night and in the summer time try to keep it between 78 and 80 degrees during the day and 80 degrees at night. This can save 2-3% in energy cost.

International Alumni Visit Campus

Violeta Jovanoska and Krste Serafimoski were international students from Macedonia and graduated from Northern in 2001. They came back to Northern so Krste could play in the alumni basketball game two weeks ago. Since then they have been visiting some of their old friends from college. Krste commented, "Northern gave us the skills and tools to go back to Macedonia and begin our careers". Krste teaches P.E. in the public school and is a co-owner of a poultry farm and runs a basketball school for 80-100 students. Violeta is the manager for the local cellular phone company. They wanted to express their thanks to everyone on campus that helped them during their time as students and to Alvin and Deanna Bitz for hosting them for this trip. This week's tip: Don't fall for phishing schemes

Could you tell if an email message requesting personal information was legitimate? In most cases you can trust your instincts (if an email message looks suspicious, it probably is). However there are some messages that look like the real thing but aren't. If an email message contains any of the following phrases, there's a good chance it could be a phishing scheme:

1. "We need to verify your account information"
2. "If you don't respond immediately, your account will be cancelled"
3. "Click the link below to update your information"

Take this Phishing Quiz and see how good you are at identifying phishing schemes.

Nudge paragraphs in a Word document

By Marianne Hoppe

Sometimes you need just a little more space above a paragraph. If you want that extra space distributed evenly throughout the document, update the style to reflect a little more space before or after each paragraph. But if you need a quick fix for a single paragraph, use the Ctrl + 0 (that's a zero) keystroke combination.

- Press Ctrl + 0 to add a little space above the current paragraph. Doing so will add 12 points of space before the paragraph - it's just a slight nudge really.
- Press Ctrl + 0 again to remove 12 points of space. This keyboard combination works with or without text so you can add the space before you even type the paragraph.

Tidbits

This weekend Northern hosts Eastern Oregon in football for their last home game of the year. Did you know that both Montana State University-Northern and Eastern Oregon University both opened up in 1929?

Tonight the Northern wrestling team opens their 2009-10 season by traveling to meet the North Idaho College (NIC) Cardinals. Earlier this year, former Northern wrestler, Kenny Rucker was inducted into the NIC Athletics Hall of Fame. Kenny Rucker was a National Champion at 177 pounds for Northern in 1989.
